

Mr Norm
Wotherspoon

Norm Wotherspoon

is the Consumer and Carer Committee Chairperson at Belmont Private Hospital. In his position, Norm plays a key role in improving the experiences and care we provide our patients at Belmont Private Hospital.

As Chairperson of Belmont Private's Consumer and Carer Committee, he is committed to strengthening the voices of our consumers, carers and is passionate about educating the wider community in mental health and hospital planning, improvement activities and decisions.

Norm also hosts weekly committee member 'Have Your Say' sessions for hospital inpatients.

He has many years' experience as TAFE teacher and has a master's degree in Social Welfare Administration and Planning, and a Graduate Diploma in Adult and Vocational Education.

Norm works closely with a number of private hospitals across Queensland to bring a consumer perspective to the care and treatment provided. This includes group facilitation, membership of safety and quality and consumer and carer advisory committees.

Consumers and Carers have a right to participate in the care and service that they receive. We welcome any feedback, to ensure that Belmont Private Hospital can continually improve the services it provides to consumers and their families and we thank Norm for his continued and valuable support in seeking to achieve this goal.
